ANALYSING OF MUSICAL FORMS

Solfeggio, Theory of Music, Harmony and Analysing of musical Forms are the most important among the theoretical subjects of music.

They are very important for interpreting the pieces because they show us the way how composers wrote their music.

If we know the rhythm, harmony and forms of the pieces, we can give to our interpretation the right meaning, style and character of the music.

Also, when you study music in this way, you can learn to recognize the poetics of the composers very well.
