To my great grandfather Dr. Novica Kraljević

WITHOUT REMEMBERING

My skin
remained on the coast
without tears
without love
without remembering
to illuminate
your dawn

Although I would like to tell you
where am I
I wouldn't know it

I am in an unfamiliar place

I am in one place where I don't recognize anyone's hands

The hands of God
taught me
the life

There is a new light that wakes me up in the morning and caresses me in the night

Although I would like
to tell you
where am I
I wouldn't know it

Don't look for me

My truths
remained on the coast
without tears
without love
without remembering
